NUMBER 26.

TWO CONGRESSMEN

Address Garrard County Growers On Marketing Plan

Seven Hundred Cheer Speakers.

It is rather an unusual coincidence that a Garrard county audience composed of 700 of her best citizens, should have the pleasure of hearing two of Kentucky's Congressmen at one sitting, but such was the case last Monday afternoon when Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill and Congressman Ralph Gilbert talked to the growers at the court house in the interest of the Co-operative Marketing Plan of selling tobacco. Judge Gilbert was not booked for a talk, but being in the city in the interest of his constituency, he was pressed into service, in which he gladly cooperated, in everything that Mr. Cantrill had said, adding that conditions with the farmers and tobacco growers throughout the Burley section had not been over-stated in the least.

He said that delegation after delegation of producers had been coming to Washington begging for government aid for cotton and cattle and wheat raisers, and that the tobacco men, now in the position to obtain government aid, did not need to compete with the rest of the world as did these producers. He promised that his own county of Shelby would be in line with the growers of Garrard and that it was not only the only way out of a bad situation, but that it was the duty of every grower to himself, his children and his state to join the marketing association.

Judge Walker, after calling the meeting to order, announced that Paint Lick precinct had signed up 95 per cent, under the championship of Dave Hervey. He said all the other precinct chairman could do as well for "there is only one side to this question."

"Friend of Growers"

In introducing Mr. Cantrill, Judge Walker referred to the Congressman as "one of the best friends the tobacco grower ever had."

Mr. Cantrill said he wanted his audience to understand that he spoke as a farmer and tobacco grower, that he had signed his tobacco and that all the men on his farms also had signed. He said he believed the plan the only hope and salvation of the burley tobacco growers.

Mr. Cantrill said the plan proposed was "no new thing." He said that it had been in successful operation for many years in other countries and in other sections of the United States. He said that three out of four tobacco growers under present conditions, were in debt and that this in itself was evidence that "something is wrong with the system."

"The farmer is the only man in the world," he said, "who buys what he buys at the price the seller sets on it but sells what he sells at the price the buyer sets on it." He said the farmers proposed to figure the cost of their crops, add a fair profit to that cost and then collect that amount from the buyer.

Mortgages on Increase.

Mr. Cantrill said that mortgages indebtedness on the farms of this country had doubled in the past three years. He said there is "want, woe, and misery in many homes in the burley district, and that, in his opinion, the only remedy for that condition was the marketing system of the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association.

He told of the success of the movement in Fayette, Bourbon, Woodford and other big tobacco counties and of the satisfactory progress made in other counties. He urged the growers of Garrard county to join with their brethren of other counties and put their tobacco into the pool. He said there would be no "fifty-fifty" pool this year, half in the pool and half out of it, for it would require 75 per cent of the tobacco grown to make the pool a success.

"There are thousands of hard-working people in the burley district," he declared, "who cannot pay their grocery bills, their taxes or the interest on what they owe." He said the outlook for the American farmer for the next two years was not a bright one. He showed how the farmer, generally, depended on the prosperity of Europe and how conditions across the ocean forbade any hope for improvement in that direction for some time to come.

Independent of Europe.

Mr. Cantrill said there was "only

OPPOSES SUNDAY HUNTING

President Woods Walker Issues Edict.

When the National Fox Hunters Association meet at Crab Orchard on Thursday, November 10th., it will be the first time in the history of this association, that its first day meeting was not on Monday.

President Woods Walker has issued an edict opposing Sunday hunting and in order that all dogs may be on the grounds in time, without having to ship them on Sunday, he has called the meeting for Thursday instead of Monday as heretofore.

The meeting is usually attended by two hundred or more members and an entertainment in keeping with the day will be provided for the Sunday intervening during the meet. President Walker has arranged to have Dr. E. L. Powell, of the First Christian church of Louisville to address the members on this day. It will be a great innovation and President Walker is to be congratulated upon this splendid movement.

Four Stills In Four Days

Garrard county officers are not letting the grass grow under their feet, when it comes to capturing some of the moonshine stills that seem to be numerous in Garrard county at this time. Last Saturday Messrs. William Kinnaird, revenue agent, and deputy Sheriff Tom Ballard, captured and destroyed three barrels of beer out on the Kirksville road. The worm and still had been removed and could not be found. Tuesday night Esquire Carter, assisted by Cabell Arnold and Burnam Ledford, of Paint Lick, captured three stills in full operation at the head waters of Harmon's Lick near Dripping Springs and arrested one of the party, Jim Helton, who is now in jail. Several others who were with him escaped in the darkness. It is said that these three stills had a capacity of 125 gallons of whiskey a week.

The beer was thrown out together with many gallons of "shine" and the copper worms were brought to this city. Helton refuses to talk.

Magazines.

I am prepared to take orders for any and all magazines and would appreciate such favors from my friends.

one set of farmers independent of European Countries, and that is the burley tobacco growers." He said that the products made from burley tobacco were sold mainly in the United States and that if the growers united they would get a good price. If they refused to join, he said, to take advantage of the situation created by the natural monopoly of burley production in the district, the farmers might expect the same experience as last year—they would go back home in debt after selling their crop.

Recalling prices paid for other farm products, Mr. Cantrill declared, the "only chance for the grower to make a profit is on his tobacco crop and the growers cannot get a profit on that, unless they stand together and pledge their tobacco to the marketing association."

Mr. Cantrill said that if 75 per cent of the crop of 1920 was pledged it would be 75 per cent of any crop that would be likely to be planted at any time in the burley district. He said that when the producers once controlled 75 per cent of the crop they could fix their own price.

Buyers Not to Oppose.

Discussing the five-year clause of the contract Mr. Cantrill said if the agreement was a good thing for one year it would be a good thing for five years. He said he did not believe the manufacturers would oppose the plan and that all they desired was to be sure that all manufacturers would be on the same footing and pay the same prices, grade for grade. Under this system, he said the farmer might plan for the future because it would stabilize the price of tobacco to growers and manufacturers to merchants and bankers.

Mr. Cantrill went into the objections he had heard made to the contract. He presented the figures to prove his assertion that the farmers would not only pay less by almost half for marketing of their crops but that they would own, within a few years, all the real estate necessary to the success of the co-operative marketing of the crop.

L. H. S. WINS

Junction City Easy For Cox's Eleven.

The first game of Foot Ball of the season was played on the local gridiron last Friday afternoon when the L. H. S. took the Junction City lads into camp by the score of 63 to 0.

This game was a little one-sided, nevertheless, it was interesting from start to finish and the local lads showed up well, for their first game. Capt. Cox and his two teams of twenty-two men trotted out on the field and were determined to win their first game. They all went in the game with that good high school spirit to bring victory for the L. H. S.

After the second quarter all the men were given a chance to play and the second string men worked like a machine.

Lawson and Geo. D. Robinson played an excellent game at ends, while Capt. Cox, Cochran, Crutchfield and Walker Robinson took care of the back field. Bratton at center played his usual good game, while Kavanaugh, Elliott, Aldridge, Moore, Gastineau, Williams and Speaks held the line like veterans.

One of the prettiest plays of the game was the place kick by Cox from the 36 yard line.

Lancaster High enjoys playing the Junction City lads as they always put up a good clean game of ball. Had the Visitors had several others like Reynolds the score would have been different.

The next game will be played tomorrow at Richmond between the Madison High and the L. H. S. Quite a large crowd will accompany the lads over to the Madison Capitol.

EXAMINATION

For Paint Lick Post Office.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that an examination has been called for October 22nd., to supply eligible list for the appointment of postmaster at Paint Lick. The present incumbent, Robert L. Walker is a Democrat and was reappointed by President Wilson, but his nomination failed of confirmation at the hands of the Republican Senate. The examination will be taken at Stanford or Danville.

Notice Legionnaires.

The regular meeting of the American Legion will be held at the L. O. O. F. Hall in Lancaster Tuesday, Oct. 4th. at 8:00 P. M.

This will be the first meeting of the newly elected officers and they wish that all members will be present and bring with them one service man from your community as things that are important to all of them will be brought up at this meeting.

Big Crowd Monday.

Last Monday being the regular September county court brought many to town, although not much business was done on the streets. It was mule colt day and about 150 were on the market, with few buyers and at prices which did not interest the owners and as a result many of them were taken back home. Merchants report good business for the day, the rain keeping many of them in the stores. Politics and tobacco were the main topics of the day.

Good Play

Well Portrayed.

One of the best amateur performances seen in Lancaster for many years was the production of the farce comedy, "The Hoodoo" given by our exclusive local talent at the school auditorium last Tuesday night before an audience that nearly filled the room and to one that felt it had received its money's worth before the play was half completed.

The work of Miss Ruth Carrier, under whose supervision and training, much of the success is due, is to be congratulated.

To name in detail all of the performers and their parts they so well filled would take up more space than we could permit in this issue, but suffice it to say, that all did their parts well and knew their lines perfectly, and deserve much credit for the delightful entertainment all must have enjoyed. About $150 was realized for the Woman's Club, thru which organization it is to be appropriated on the community play grounds.

KINDERGARTEN New Department In Graded School.

The Kindergarten department of the Lancaster Graded School will open its first session on Monday, Oct. 3rd., with an afternoon session of five days a week and continuing for 28 weeks. The classes will begin at one o'clock and close at 3:15 P. M. Although being held strictly to kindergarten principals, it will take the place of so called Primer grades.

Promotions in this department will be made at the discretion of the teacher, regardless of the time of year.

Tuitions of all children will be at the rate of $12.00 per term, until they reach the age of six.

The Neighbors

Chickens.

Several complaints have been registered at this office about the neighbors chickens trespassing upon other's property, devouring and destroying tomatoes and other garden truck. They asked us if something can't be done. Some have said it is one need of the town, a chicken law, or an ordinance forbidding such trespassing.

One good lady of the town sold all her chickens rather than see them bother her neighbor and now she tells us, her neighbors fowls are doing her more harm than her own did before she sold them. So there you are.

Officers Of ### Election Appointed.

We will be able in our next week's issue to give a list of the election officers appointed by the county election commission to hold the November election. Under the law the officers named are required under a heavy penalty to be present and act in the capacity named. In some of the counties the state officers were in the habit of ignoring this appointment and as a result the courts have taken the cases in hand and administered heavy fines against the offenders. Section 1579 of the Kentucky Statutes provides as follows:—OFFICERS APPOINTED TO PERFORM DUTY. Any officer of election or registration, in any precinct where registration is required, who, after due notice of his appointment, shall fail to perform his duty as such in holding any election or registration unless for good cause, shall be fined from twenty-five to five hundred dollars.

Lancaster Gun Club.

Several days ago the Lancaster Gun Club was organized with twenty members and every Thursday afternoon they have a shoot on the Spoonamore grounds near town. Some very good scores have been made and some that are not very good, in fact hardly good enough to print, but we are giving them to the public just like they were given to us or rather taken from the score card. Here's the result from 25 targets: Webb Kelley making the highest score, breaking 19; Prescott Brown, 12; Russel Brown, 10; Guy Davidson, 16; Joe Walker, 12; Jim Woods, 16; L. C. Gullett, 2. Paul Elliott made a clean score missing every target.

Secretary Employed

The Chamber of Commerce has employed the services of Mr. G. A. Abbott, of Louisville, as secretary-manager of the organization and he will assume charge of his work in the next week or ten days. Mr. Abbott comes highly recommended for this work, having had considerable experience in community service work in various parts of the country and seems admirably fitted for the service here. He together with Mrs. Abbott and child will move to Lancaster tomorrow, having rented the property of Mrs. Mae Hughes Noland on Maple avenue. They should and doubtless will receive a hearty welcome from the citizens and good people of this community.

Deserved Promotion

Miss Stella Mae Grow, who has served so faithfully as book-keeper for the Bank of Bryansville for several months has recently been promoted to the position of Assistant Cashier. This is quite an honor to Miss Grow as well as to the bank, both being in line for congratulations.

The Kindergarten department opens at the Lancaster Graded school next Monday.

POULTRY CULLING To Be Demonstrated Here Next Week.

Plans have been completed by our Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Joyce Syler, for the series of four poultry culling demonstrations which will be held Oct. 6 and 7th. for Garrard county farmers and their wives in order to show them how to distinguish between the loafer and the heavy-laying hen.

Mr. Arthur S. Chapin, poultry extension specialist from the College of Agriculture, will assist Miss Syler in conducting the demonstrations.

The following schedule of demonstrations has been arranged in order to make it possible for farmers in the entire county to attend the demonstrations:

Thursday, Oct. 6th. at 2 o'clock at Mrs. T. D. O'Hearn's farm, Lexington road; Friday, Oct. 7th. at 9 o'clock, Mr. W. A. Ramsey's farm, Manse; Friday, Oct. 7th. at 11:30 o'clock at Jno. T. Hicks' farm on the Danville pike; Friday, Oct. 7th. at 2:00 o'clock, Mrs. Huabert Carter's farm on the Buckeye road.

This is the first demonstration of poultry culling that has been attempted in Garrard county, and the poultry raisers of the county should show their interest by attending those culling exhibits nearest them.

Farmers and their wives who live in the vicinity of the various farms will meet there at which time Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Joyce Syler, assisted by Mr. A. S. Chapin, will select representative hens from the flock on the farm and show the poultrymen the difference between the hen that is laying and the one that has stopped laying to loaf until spring. The various points of difference will be outlined in detail and circulars on culling distributed in order to make it possible for the farmers and their wives to become familiar with the process. The demonstration will be complete and simple enough so that every one who sees it can put the culling method into practice on his own farm.

Centre Game Saturday

Many from here will see the Centre-Clemson game at Danville next Saturday afternoon. Clemson is the State Agricultural College of South Carolina and is a peach of a team, being defeated by Georgia Tech last year by a close score. This ought to be a good game and doubtless will.

New Garage.

Messrs. Pete Walker and Ambrose Jenkins, two popular and capable mechanics have opened up an auto repair shop in the rear of the old Central Garage and are prepared to give service to their patrons, which they guarantee and only charge 60 cents an hour for their work. Read their ad and give them a trial.

Car Stolen.

Charlie Dean is bemoaning the loss of a handsome Buick automobile, which was stolen from his garage near Camp Dick Robinson last Friday night or early Saturday morning. He is offering a reward of $150 for the return of the car and the conviction of the thief, or he will give $100 for the return of the car alone.

Made Many Friends.

After hearing Brother and Mrs. Jeff Adams tell of the delightful vacation spent in Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Metzner, decided it was the place they should spend a few weeks and so they did. Mr. and Mrs. Metzner, hail from Louisville and during their short stay in Lancaster, made many warm friends, who will always extend to them a hearty welcome in the future. Mr. Metzner is one of the firm of Mueller-Metzner Co., one of Louisville's foremost real estate firms.

Revival At

Methodist Church

What promises to be one of the best revivals ever held in Lancaster will begin at the Methodist church next Sunday morning, October 2nd, and continue for three weeks. Rev. O. H. Callis, who held such a successful meeting at Stanford last year will be the evangelist, while B. G. Grenfell will have charge of the music. He is a singer of wonderful talent and a choir leader of ability. Everybody is cordially invited to attend these meetings.

GREAT MEMORIAL SERVICE

"Old Gilberts Creek Baptist Church."

Next Sunday, October 2nd.

One of the greatest memorial services ever undertaken will be held on the foundation grounds of the first Baptist church ever erected in the state of Kentucky, and known as the "Old Gilberts Creek Baptist Church" next Sunday, October 2nd. This service will be held three and one half miles from Lancaster, on the Crab Orchard and Lancaster pike. An elaborate program has been arranged for this fitting and appropriate occasion. Many speakers of prominence in the Baptist faith will take part and a great day of rejoicing and fellowship is promised all who may attend.

Rev. George Childress, the chairman of the arrangement committee says, "This service will be in memory and honor to the Soldiers of the Cross of Jesus Christ, who roamed their way from old Virginia in order to obey the command of Jesus Christ, 'Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature.' They were determined by the Grace of God, to establish a church and represent Christ in this country."

A tentative program has been arranged, but may be changed on that day as other speakers not on the program will be on hand and will have a few words to say. Services will begin promptly at ten o'clock and continue through the day. Everybody is cordially invited and every Baptist church in Kentucky has been cordially urged to send representatives to this service and also asked to bring a basket of dinner, which will be served to all attending. It should prove one of the great days of Kentucky and certainly one of the greatest ever contemplated in Garrard county.

No Preaching.

As Rev. William E. Rix, who has accepted a call to the local Baptist church here, preaches his farewell sermon at Berea next Sunday, there will be no preaching at this church here on that day.

Sixteen Convictions

Hon. H. Clay Kauffman was at home for a few days this week, just returning from Jackson, where he prosecuted 18 whiskey cases in the U. S. Court there, getting 16 convictions and two hung juries out of a total of 18 cases tried. Mr. Kauffman is making the way of these transgressors hard indeed.

A Ball From "Babe"

Hugh Mobley is the proudest fellow you ever saw, and rightly so, for Tuesday morning he received by special delivery mail a package, which contained one of the surprises of his life, and one that would have made anyone feel happy and honored, especially if he were a baseball fan. When Babe Ruth broke his 1920 record with 55 home runs, Mr. Mobley wrote Babe a letter of congratulations and in response to that message he received a base ball autographed "Babe Ruth, Sept. 22-21" which he is naturally proud of.

Hilda Becomes Engaged
By WILLIAM FALL.

Copyright, 1921, Western Newspaper Union.

"Don't stand in your own light, Hilda. Mr. Armitage is a rising man of business, and many a girl would consider herself lucky to receive the attentions he has shown you."

"Mother, his attentions are more than distasteful to me. I cannot bear to even have him speak to me."

"There are a good many reasons why you should encourage him," declared Hilda Mason's stepmother.

The girl put on her wraps and left her humble home for her daily work.

The worldly advice of her stepmother had made little impression upon Hilda. James Armitage was practically her employer. He was in full charge of the silk factory of Meserve & Co., one of several operated by that wealthy firm.

Armitage had come to the plant about a year previous. From the first Hilda had felt repelled by him.

Armitage had seemed to take a fancy to Hilda, as the thoughtless Mrs. Mason put it in her shallow way. When on two occasions recently he had asked permission to take Hilda to places of entertainment, she had not enjoyed his company, and was glad to get home again.

Hilda evaded Armitage, and twice when he called managed to get out of the way. Hence her stepmother's advice.

A new interest came into the life of Hilda one day. Armitage passed through the sample department accompanied by a bright-faced athletic young man. The latter seemed interested in everything he saw. Something about the neat, graceful Hilda held his glance. She noticed it and flushed, but his look was so pleasant she could not feel offended.

"He is a Mr. Harold Macy," a companion told Hilda. "He has come well recommended to Mr. Armitage, and is going to be a kind of overseer."

Armitage was absent for several days inspecting another mill. It was a happy week for Hilda. The new employee passed through her department frequently. From the first he had a pleasant word for her. Then he began to question her about her work and its details. One evening he was strolling past her home when he met her. There was a band concert going on in the public square. The young man asked for her company there. Both enjoyed the concert.

Mrs. Mason gave Hilda a great lecture when she got home. "Spoiling her chances," "out of respect for Mr. Armitage," were some of the pointed phrases she used.

A few evenings later young Macy called at the Mason home. But for the glum looks of Mrs. Mason, it was a second happy occasion for Hilda.

Armitage returned, came into the room where she sat at work next morning. He was pale and stern looking. He forced a smile as if asking a welcome.

"I heard of your having quite a social time during my absence," insinuated the manager. "Hilda," and he came a step nearer, and his eyes had an eager, sinister glow, "the time has come when circumstances force me to reveal my feelings toward you. I have spoken to your mother; I wish you to become my wife."

"Oh, Mr. Armitage!" breathed Hilda tremulously. "You must not—that is, I cannot—cannot marry you."

"Because, I suppose," sneered the manager with a dark scowl, "you have taken up with this new employee, Macy?"

It was coarsely said. Words and manner were offensive. Hilda bridled. "Mr. Macy is a gentleman and a dear friend of mine," she said staunchly, as though defending him from aspersion.

"He shall not remain here long to cross my path!" cried Armitage savagely. Armitage sprang towards Hilda and threw an arm around her.

"You shall become my wife," he cried. "I am not used to being crossed in my plans." In excess of emotion the manager attempted to kiss Hilda. With a scream she beat his face with both her hands.

"That will do," spoke a calm, but masterful voice, and Armitage was hurled to the other end of the room.

"You!" pointed the manager, recognizing young Macy, his eyes blazing with fury. "You are discharged from my employ. Out of here at once, or I will have you thrown out."

"Your employ?" replied young Macy. "My man, I advise you to get to the office and be ready for an accounting, which will be demanded of you by my father, the owner of this business. I have telegraphed him, and he will be here tomorrow. A discharged girl employee gave us a hint of your double dealings in dividing sales profits with our clients. I came here under an assumed name to get the details. My correct name is Victor Meserve."

Armitage slunk from the room. With a slight twinkle in his eye, young Meserve turned to the astonished Hilda.

"Miss Mason—Hilda," he said, "judging from what you just told that man, you intend to remain a spinster. Still, recalling your kind words about myself, I must hope that you will allow me one favor."

"What—that is it?" faltered Hilda, red as a rose.

"To ask your parents if we may become engaged," was the earnest reply, and Hilda did not say him nay.

American Legion News

Sixteen world war veterans from one post of the American Legion in Tulsa, Okla., have settled upon government land in Scott County, Southern Arkansas. By cold weather, it is estimated that 100 ex-service men will have taken claims on the land.

The territory which will become a settlement of world war service men, the first in America, stretches over 2,500 acres, composed of adjoining individual tracts of 160 acres each. The men have to live on the land but seven months before it becomes their property as Arkansas gives residence credit to soldiers up to two years of army or navy service.

Part of the men will spend the winter on their land, clearing timber, building, hunting and trapping, for the tracts abound in deer, fox and lynx. The sixteen who have already settled are preparing to establish a central trading point and town which they will name "Legionnaire." Four of the pioneers are married and all have had farming experience. Homesteading is now possible in the following other states: Washington, Michigan, Montana, Arizona, New Mexico, Wyoming, Louisiana, Alabama, Colorado, Idaho and Oregon.

A family which in itself is a thriving war veterans' society has come to the notice of the American Legion in Independence, Kas. Thirty-three able-bodied men and women call the Civil War veteran, Manna C. Bruner, by the familiar "papa." Of the lot, the father, soldier of the Union in '61, is proudest of his even dozen sons who served overseas with the American forces in the world war. Of the remainder, 20 are girls and son was too young to fight. The oldest is 42.

The Pershing estate in Tangipahoa Parish, La., owned jointly by heirs of John J. Pershing, father of the general of the armies, has been advertised for sale for taxes, according to a letter sent the general by the editor of an American Legion magazine published in Amite, La. The editor posted sufficient funds with the parish sheriff to prevent the sale and requested General Pershing to make the estate available for colonization by his comrades who are being rehabilitated, after war wounds, for agricultural pursuits. The Pershing tract contains 100 acres of the parish's best land.

The number of civilian employees in the Panama canal zone has been reduced 40 per cent since March 4, 1921, and more than 700 former soldiers will be forced out of employment if there is not a let-up in appeal from the canal zone to the American Legion's representatives in Washington declares. Two army officers and three civilians appointed by Secretary of War Weeks recommended the sweeping reduction in personnel.

Milady's fashionable corsage bouquet may have started life as a handful of ragweed, for disabled soldiers in Kansas City hospitals are doing a thriving business in making artificial and lifelike posies out of ordinary weeds. War Mothers of the city are teaching the wounded men to color the weeds with dyes and the American Legion is helping them place the flowers with florists and gift shops.

For the return of a tattered old army rain-caps, almost worth its weight in gold because of sentiment attached to it, liberal rewards have been posted by American Legion servicemen of Toledo, O. The cape, property of Rev. H. F. MacLane, chaplain of an infantry regiment in France, was used by him to cover the faces of dead soldiers lying in the Fladerns mud and rain while their graves were being dug. It had been torn in many encounters with barbed wire while the chaplain followed his troops, but an indiscriminating thief stole it from the minister's automobile.

Out of work, arrested on a charge of vagrancy and placed in a convict garg at Glenn Springs, N. J., Thomas M. Keelan, world war veteran was flogged to death by his guards, according to the American Legion post of Spartansburg, S. C., near the scene of the outrage. A federal investigation has been demanded and two men are being held.

The body of the unknown American soldier to be brought home from France by General Pershing probably will be selected from the Argonne cemetery at Romagne, where most of the unidentified dead were interred following the fighting in the forest tangles, according to information to the American Legion shortly before the general sailed. But two per cent of the war's dead yet remain in France.

All our skill, facilities, and lifelong knowledge of the finest tobaccos are concentrated on this one cigarette—CAMEL.

Into this ONE BRAND, we put the utmost quality. Nothing is too good for Camels. They are as good as it's possible to make a cigarette.

Camel QUALITY is always maintained at the same high, exclusive standard. You can always depend on the same mellow-mild refreshing smoothness—the taste and rich flavor of choicest tobaccos—and entire freedom from cigaretty aftertaste.

And remember this! Camels come in one size package only—20 cigarettes—just the right size to make the greatest saving in production and packing. This saving goes straight into Camel Quality. That's one reason why you can get Camel Quality at so moderate a price.

Here's another. We put no useless frills on the Camel package. No "extra wrappers!" Nothing just for show!

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And their added cost must go onto the price or come out of the quality.

One thing, and only one, is responsible for Camels great and growing popularity—that is CAMEL QUALITY.

BROOMS AND BRUSHES REQUIRE RIGHT CARE

Keep Weight Off of Bristles. Straws or Strings.

Specialists Recommend That Bristle Brushes Be Washed in Lukewarm Water and Ammonia—Drying Should Be Hastened.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Brooms, brushes, and mops should be hung by strings or screw-eyes fastened to the handles so that the weight does not come on the bristles. The hair and lint that accumulate in brushes, especially in carpet sweepers, may be taken out with an old buttonhook, a coarse comb, or old scissors. Corn brooms may be washed in hot soap-suds, but care must be taken not to let water rust the wires which hold the straws to the handle.

Household specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture recommend that bristle brushes be washed with lukewarm water and a little ammonia (three teaspoonfuls dilute ammonia to the quart) or borax (one teaspoonful to the quart) and then rinsed in clear water. Water is likely to injure the back of a brush and to loosen the cement by which the bristles are held in place in the less expensive makes. The brush, therefore, should not be covered with water but be washed by sousing the bristles back and forth in shallow water; it should be dried with the bristles down or with the weight resting on the side of the brush. The drying should be done quickly, but not in an intense heat. Drying in sunshine whitens light bristles. The weighted bristle brush used in polishing floors should be washed occasionally to prevent the accumulation of dirt and wax from darkening the wood.

Mops may be washed in hot suds and rinsed in clear, hot water; they should be quickly dried. Dry mops may be oiled, or oiled ones renewed, by pouring a few drops of light lubricating oil or any good floor oil, into an old dish or a tin box and setting the mop on this for a day or two; or the mop may be sprinkled with a little oil and allowed to stand until the oil spreads through the strings.

Dustcloths should be washed frequently, both because a little dirt comes out more easily and because dirty ones often leave as much dirt as they take up, and may scratch highly polished surfaces.

The heavy woolen cloths used in polishing floors may be soaked for an hour or more in hot water and soda, using three tablespoonfuls of soda to a gallon of water, and stirring the cloths occasionally with a stick; then they should be washed in hot soap-suds and finally rinsed in hot water; a little kerosene or light lubricating oil added to this last water will soften the cloths.

A stuffy, dusty, overcrowded attic attracts pests of all kinds.

There is no better vegetable than kohlrabi for the vacation garden.

A bit of thyme added to the filling for a fowl will give a good flavor.

Even a spoonful of cereal is worth saving to thicken soup, gravy or sauce.

At least one window on each side of the cellar should be propped open for ventilation, and the window, of course, screened.

DRUDGERY REMOVED FROM HOME BY ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER

The Ease With Which a House Can Be Lighted is the Principal Reason That Most People Put Electricity Into Their Homes.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Power on the farm has proved to be one of the greatest time and labor savers the farmer knows. Power in the home is one of the greatest of boons to the busy housewife, but a recent survey made by the United States Department of Agriculture in 10,000 homes in the Northern and Western states discloses the fact that but 15 per cent of the farm homes in the country have this advantage. Power for such frequently recurring tasks as sweeping, running the washing machine and churning would not only remove drudgery but save time and money as well.

The time required to operate the churn, the separator, and the washing machine, and to do the ironing, the cleaning with the vacuum cleaner, and the pumping of water is made available for other things and not infrequently it has been possible to reduce the amount of hired help.

Helps Solve Servant Problem.

Today as never before is the need of labor-saving devices in the home being felt. The servant problem is rapidly becoming more serious. The increasing wages of household servants and washerwomen are approaching a point which the family of average means cannot meet. Through electricity, the tireless servant, is perhaps to be found the solution.

Comparatively few of our farm homes today have electricity available. The number, however, is increasing rapidly, owing principally to the advent of the small farm lighting power plant. In addition to this means of supply, some farm homes are so situated that electricity can be obtained from high-power transmission lines that pass within a reasonable distance; others are near streams of water which may be developed as sources of energy for farm or community hydro-electric plants; while in some localities successful windmill electric generating plants have been the means of supply. Directions for conducting preliminary surveys to determine the possibilities of a particular stream have been given by the bureau of rural engineering of the United States Department of Agriculture and can be obtained for the asking.

Where farm homes are supplied with electricity from transmission lines, central stations, or farm hydro-electric plants taking current directly from the generator, it is usually supplied at 110 to 115 volts. Windmill electric plants may be of this voltage, but on account of the relatively high battery investment, they are more likely to be of the 30 to 32-volt type. The engine-driven farm lighting and power plants, which are multiplying rapidly at present, are mostly of the 32-volt type; but many of the companies supply these plants operating at 110 volts.

Uses Almost Unlimited.

The uses for electricity, or the tasks to which it can be applied about the farm home, are almost unlimited. The man who may install it primarily for lighting will soon find himself applying it to other tasks, and as he begins to see what it can do for him and the multiplicity of its usefulness becomes apparent he will realize how electricity is each day lessening his labors and making this old world a happier and better place in which to live.

The first thought of electricity is usually for lighting, but it should not be overlooked as a source of power.

The utility motor adapts itself wonderfully well to a number of uses, thus saving the expense of installing a separate motor for each job. Several types are available. Sometimes a support rod is attached to the motor base to steady it when in operation. This is a desirable asset.

Then there are the many tasks of the kitchen where a little motor can do in but a fraction of the time consumed by handwork jobs that, though not particularly tiresome, are nevertheless irksome, such as grinding meat and coffee, stuffing sausage, mixing bread, or sharpening knives.

The electric range will be better appreciated as its advantages become better known, and will be used where electric plants of sufficient size to operate a range are available. Many heating units, such as table utensils, fireless cookers, water heaters, griddles and others, are already in use and are proving themselves to be desirable under different conditions. The washing machine, electric iron, vacuum cleaner, sewing-machine motor, and motor-driven pumping units are all helping to make life on the farm more enjoyable and appreciated.

CELERY

BLANCHING

Should Be Started On About Oct. 1st.

Since from four to six weeks are required in which to properly blanch celery it is necessary to start the process about the first of October, according to specialists at the College of Agriculture. Blanching is started by drawing the soil up around the plants and gradually continuing this from time to time until only the tops of the plants are exposed. Before freezing weather sets in the entire row is covered with straw. Blanching by means of paper, tile or boards can be done but these will not give the high quality secured in the dirt blanching stalks. If celery is to be stored for some time it is not necessary to blanch it in the fields, the specialists say.

BURN DEAD POULTRY IS EXCELLENT PLAN
Especially True in Case of Death From Disease.

Burying Not Satisfactory Because Dogs and Other Animals May Dig Carcass Up—Concrete Crematory Is Not Expensive.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Accumulations of manure in the henhouse are objectionable upon grounds of sanitation, but not more so than dead poultry. How often have you seen a dead chicken thrown into the road or trampled into the barnyard manure? The disposal of these dead bodies offers a problem for the poultryman, the correct solving of which may in many cases become a very important matter, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. This is especially true, of course, in cases of death from contagious diseases, and this includes a large proportion of poultry deaths.

To throw a dead chicken on the manure pile or into the road is to invite the spread of disease. Burying is not entirely satisfactory, because unless the grave is dug deep the carcass may be scratched up by dogs or other animals. Furthermore, in the winter the ground may be frozen. Therefore, specialists declare, the best way to dispose of dead poultry is to burn the bodies.

Many town and city homes have garbage burners which may be used, but where this is not available some poultrymen having hot-water heating systems burn the bodies in the furnace. This cannot be done in the summer, though, so small crematories have been built on some poultry plants. Some of these are of concrete, the size depending upon the number of birds kept on the place, and others are ordinary iron wood-burning stoves. A concrete crematory will not be expensive, and would pay for itself in safeguarding the health of all the poultry.

TOWN MAN MAY KEEP PIGEONS
Bird Has Place in Scheme of Poultry Production, but Not Always Desirable on Farm.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
The one kind of poultry of questionable economic status on the farms is the pigeon, the specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture say in Secretary's Circular 107. Almost exclusively a grain eater, the pigeon renders no notable service as a conserver of waste, unless it is shattered grain in the fields, and that in large measure would be taken up by other poultry and by pigs. The pigeon has a place in the scheme of urban poultry production, but, except in isolated instances where conditions are peculiarly favorable, its production on farms may not be desirable.

Champion Homer Pigeon.

DRINKING WATER IN SUMMER
Supply for Hogs and Chickens Overlooked on Many Farms—Skim Milk Not Sufficient.

Perhaps no animals on the farm suffer more for fresh drinking water during the summer than hogs and chickens. Hogs, particularly, are usually left with only slops and skim milk, when these hot months they crave cool water. Water in chickens' pans quickly evaporates, and is too often forgotten. It is positively cruel to forget any animal's drinking water needs in the summer months.

FIND FAULT WITH SEPARATOR
Pays to Investigate When Flow From Cream Spout Seems Smaller Than Ordinarily.

If the flow from the cream spout of the separator seems smaller than ordinarily, it usually pays to investigate. In spite of all precautions, it often happens that foreign matter lodges in the cream screw, thus causing part of the cream to be retained with the skim milk.

INFERTILE EGGS KEEP BEST
Surplus Roosters Should Be Disposed of as Soon as Hatching-Egg Season Is Over.

Infertile eggs keep best when placed in water glass. This means that useless "roosters" should go as soon as the hatching-egg season is over. But the big roosters are not like tender young fryers, but the housewife with a fireless cooker can turn the toughest old male birds into several fine chicken dinners.

Farm And Home News From Over Kentucky

More than 4,000 sheep in Owen county have been treated for stomach worms by means of 15 demonstrations conducted by County Agent D. P. Morris in co-operation with interested farmers of that vicinity.

Plans are being made by Carroll county farmers to hold a farmers' fair during the latter part of October, according to a report of County Agent G. C. Routt.

Farmers in the Cedar Grove community of Livingston county will use limestone this fall in an effort to improve their soils, a report from County Agent L. C. Pace, states. Plans are being made by the farmers of that community to have more than 600 tons ground for use this fall.

Community development in Fulton county will be given additional attention in a special fair to be held Oct. 6, 7 and 8, according to a report from Assistant County Agent J. P. Ricketts. A premium list of $2,000 is being prepared for the event.

Home improvement is receiving special attention from Fleming county farmers, according to County Agent H. F. McKenney. Three of them are making plans to install sanitary septic tanks while a number of others are planning similar improvements.

Culling work is arousing much interest among Crittenden county farmers who raise poultry, according to a report of County Agent John R. Spencer. More than 75 of them recently attended three demonstrations to learn the correct methods of distinguishing between the layer and the loafer hen.

Daviess county pig club members recently held one of the best shows in the history of the county at the local fair, according to a report of the project by Assistant County Agent R. H. Ford. More than 85 pigs were entered by the boys and girls competition for the prizes offered. The show was judged by E. J. Wilford, of the College of Agriculture.

WOMEN GIVE OUT

Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every Lancaster woman who is having backache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches and kidney or bladder troubles, should be glad to heed this Lancaster woman's experience:

Mrs. M. G. Aldridge, Danville Pike, says: "There is nothing like Doan's Kidney Pills for backache. I have taken them several times for dull pains in my back. I have also had sharp, shooting pains in my side when sweeping, that felt as though a knife were stabbing me. Sometimes I would get dizzy and specks came before my eyes that nearly blinded me if I stooped over. When I got an attack like this, my kidneys were out of order and acted irregularly. I went to McRobert's Drug Store and got Doan's Kidney Pills. They have always cured me of the attack."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Aldridge had. Foster-McBarn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

101 Culls Lay One Egg In Seven Days

One egg produced in one week by 101 culls removed from four poultry flocks in Fayette and surrounding counties is further proof of the fact that Kentucky farmers can eliminate the loafer hens from their flock during the fall months by means of the culling method, according to poultry specialists at the College of Agriculture. The only proof that hens removed as culls ever produce any eggs was obtained in the flock of Mrs. Charles Land, Fayette county, where 25 culls removed from 88 hens produced one egg during the week following their removal. The remaining culls failed to lay an egg. Twenty-four were removed from a flock of 60 owned by L. R. Penn, Fayette county, 24 from a flock of 80 owned by R. M. Squires, Fayette county and 29 from a flock of 102 owned by John Graves, Versailles.

Home Town Paper Week.

It is very rare that the average newspaper boosts its own business, but gives quantities of space in boosting the affairs of others.

Somebody suggested that it was time for the newspapers of the country to adopt a week in which their own business should be given precedent, and the Central Record thoroughly endorsed the idea.

The date set is the second week in November, from the 7th. to the 12th., including that great world event, Armistice Day.

The official title for the week will be "Subscribe For Your Home Town Paper Week."

Thousands of papers will join in this event, and our readers will hear more about it as time goes on.

Ever ready to help in any cause that is in the interest of a better community, better living conditions, and better government, we now ask the readers and advertisers of the Central Record to turn in and lend a hand during "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week" and boost for us.

About the only work some people ever do is to collect the living they claim the world owes them.

Just now the big cities are doing a lot of talking about 100 per cent Americanism. In the country districts they are content to practice it.

As The Editor Sees It.

The bitter fight that is being waged the Ku Klux Klan and a rival organization that has sprung into existence for the avowed purpose of crushing it is being carefully watched by many millions of Americans whose minds are as yet open on the subject.

Shrewd observers are of the opinion that it is to be a battle of giants, and the outcome is difficult to foretell.

But whatever the outcome, it is well for both sides to understand that this country does not desire people who cannot conscientiously subscribe to the doctrine of "100 Per Cent Americanism," regardless of who they may be.

The man who lives up to this doctrine will have nothing to fear from any true American.

The man who does not live up to it is the enemy of every true American.

There is no middle course.

It is surprising how persistent certain people can be in their efforts to effect the cancellation of the billions of dollars in debts that the allies owe to this country.

What is behind this insidious campaign?

Have these people or their masters bought heavily of depreciated foreign money—especially French and German, and do they expect that the cancellation of the allied debts will raise the value of this foreign money, thus creating additional fortunes for themselves?

Or have they other irons in the fire whereby they hope to reap rich rewards through the creation of a stupendous loss to their country?

Are they voluntarily canceling any of the debts other people owe to them? They are not.

They claim that the cancellation of the allied debts would restore world equilibrium.

If that is true, why wouldn't the cancellation of the debts that other people owe to them restore American equilibrium?

There is a gentleman of color in the woodpile somewhere.

He should be chased out. We'd like to see him.

Government reports indicate a slight improvement in business conditions throughout the country.

Money is not quite so tight, many of the unemployed are finding work, labor and capital are attempting to lessen the chasm between them, and a general feeling of optimism is in evidence.

We of this town are only a drop in the great American bucket, but every drop forms a part of the whole.

Let us spread the good tidings and keep them moving. Let us give them practical support by our own efforts. Let us be of good cheer and instill the same in the hearts of others.

Hope never dies in the heart that is unafraid. It is only the weakling who gives up just as the fight is being won.

Better times are just ahead of us.

If we hasten our steps they will soon be with us.

Step lively and keep stepping.

Well, well, well! Press dispatches have informed us that President Harding has broken all records of presidents at playing golf.

Quite an achievement, indeed!

Keep up your stride, Mr. President, but don't limit it to golf.

Golf affords you relaxation, to which you are entitled.

Restoration of the country to something resembling normal conditions would afford the people vast relief—to which they are entitled.

Go to it and stay with it.

Too Big Business.

Rockefeller is presumably the richest man in the world. His wealth is so great that even he cannot estimate it. Yet every day sees him a richer man.

Henry Ford, a very poor man a few years ago, is now said to be worth $250,000,000 or more, all accumulated within a few years of time. Henry is still grinding out lizzies and raking in the pennies.

The number of our plutocrats is so great that their combined wealth is staggering, and still they multiply in both numbers and wealth.

The war brought enormous wealth to this country, but the great majority of it went into the swollen coffers of the minority. The majority were permitted to sniff.

Some say that we are cursed with big business. But that we do not concede. It is because of big business that this is a big country.

But there is such a thing as TOO BIG BUSINESS.

When a concern reaches proportions where it can dominate everything in its line and regulate prices without regard to competition or the law of supply and demand, it ceases to be a national asset and becomes instead a burden to the people.

It is too big to be safe.

If men could take their wealth to heaven and enjoy it there we could understand why they continue to amass enormous fortunes which they cannot possibly spend.

The great wealth that thus passes into the hands of a limited number simply reduces the amount in the hands of the mass of the people. As the few become bloated the many become emaciated.

Congress should no longer shirk its plain duty to the people. It should place a limit upon the income which any one man may enjoy. It should confiscate every dollar of that income above the limit in the form of taxation and thus reduce the burden which rests so heavily upon the shoulders of people who can ill afford it.

Big business should be protected and regulated.

Too big business should be prohibited.

Your Good And Ours.

As you wander along the highways and the byways of this town it is possible that you see many things which you think should not be.

Do you ever speak of these things to people who have the power of correction?

Does it occur to you that their absorption in other duties may have caused them to overlook some of the things that are so plain to you?

Do you realize that their brains plus yours are more potent than their brains alone?

Every man owes a duty to the community that shelters and sustains him. That duty is to aid in the advancement of the welfare of the community as a whole.

Calling attention to undesirable conditions is not necessarily a reflection upon the constituted authorities. One pair of eyes cannot see everything, neither can one brain master everything—and the Lord does not provide any man with more of either.

It may not be possible for the authorities to make a prompt correction of conditions you report, as there is a limit to their possibilities. But your report will impress them upon their minds, and in time they may be able to afford the desired relief.

This community has reached its present state of desirability through the efforts of all of our people. It will become even more desirable as we bend additional efforts to that end.

Speak up and be heard. Your criticisms are of no value until you make a noise.

It is for your good and ours.

FEDERAL BANK TO AID BURLEY MEN

Reserve System to Honor Association Drafts When Proceeds Are To Be Used For Farming.

Further assurance of Federal assistance for burley tobacco growers, through organization of the Burley Growers' Co-operative Marketing Association, was given recently when the Federal Reserve Board issued a ruling that growers' drafts on the association, accompanied by weight tickets, will be eligible for rediscount at Federal Reserve Banks as agricultural paper and entitled to six months' credit; provided the growers use the proceeds of the drafts for agricultural purposes.

This action, it is said, will relieve the tobacco farmers of the only possible difficulty in financing their production through the co-operative association now being formed.

At a conference here last week six representatives of the Preliminary Committee of the Burley Growers' Co-operative Association, urged that such a ruling be issued. Those who attended this conference were:

Judge Robert W. Bingham, Louisville, chairman; James C. Stone, Lexington, vice chairman; Charles N. Manning, Lexington; William E. Simms, Spring Station; W. Z. Montgomery, Elizabethtown, and James C. Wilson, Louisville.

Following this conference, members of the committee said, that while it is by no means necessary for the association to have the drafts classified as agricultural paper, such a decision would be very helpful in completing its financial arrangements.

W. P. G. Harding, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, recently sent a letter to Judge Bingham, advising him of the issuance of the requested ruling.

This letter, in part, follows:

"The Federal Reserve Board has considered the question upon which it was recently asked to rule by a number of gentlemen representing the Organization Committee of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Marketing Association. This question is whether certain drafts drawn upon and accepted by the association in accordance with the plan now contemplated should be classed as agricultural paper, eligible for rediscount at Federal Reserve Banks, with a maturity up to six months or should be classed as commercial paper, eligible for rediscount only, when its maturity is not in excess of ninety days.

"The federal reserve Board ruled some time ago that drafts drawn upon and accepted by co-operative marketing associations in transactions similar to those contemplated between the growers and the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Marketing Association in the instant case were not trade acceptances within the meaning of the board's regulations, for the reason that looking thru the form of these transactions and at the substance thereof, the drafts rather represented advancements made by the associations to the growers rather than partial payments of the purchase price of the product delivered to the associations.

"Further consideration of the subject confirms the board in the views expressed in its former ruling and you are advised, therefore that in the board's opinion, drafts with maturities not in excess of six months, drawn by the growers accepted by the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Marketing Association and discounted by the growers with their endorsements, in accordance with the statements of facts contained in this letter, will be eligible for rediscounts, at Federal Reserve Banks as agricultural paper, provided the growers use the proceeds of the drafts for agricultural purposes and provided, also, the drafts comply in other respects with the requirements of the law and the board's regulations."

HARVARD SPECIAL

To Leave Danville On October 26th.

With the Centre-Harvard game only four weeks off, arrangements are being rapidly completed to run another special train to Boston to see the big game on October 29th. The special will leave Danville on the morning of October 26th, reaching Boston the following afternoon. This will give one intervening day before the game is called Saturday afternoon. Last year over 200 followers accompanied the team East and from present indications fully as many will take the trip this year.

District Passenger Agent, H. C. King, of the Southern Railway, and George Joplin, are looking after the details of the trip and are now booking reservations for this special. The train will include about eight pullmans and all meals enroute will be included in the price of the tickets.

Nov. 26—De Pauw at Indianapolis.

Wallaceton Defeats Cartersville.

Wallaceton and Cartersville Junior Teams played another interesting game Friday afternoon on the latter's ground. Both sides played hard but couldn't very well tell which way the game went for lack of umpire. The score was 18 to 9 in favor of Cartersville, but spectators were unanimous in pronouncing Wallaceton the best team.

Wallaceton challenged Cartersville for another game, but they refused the challenge.

Hurte

On Sunday, September 4th, the Death Angel hovered its icy wings over the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hurte and claimed for its victim their baby and only daughter, Gladys Mae.

The little one was stricken on Friday and all that loving hands could do was of no avail, Jesus calling her home on Sunday.

She was only three years of age and the pride of the family and all who knew her. Besides her father and mother she leaves two small brothers. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved ones.

Resolutions.

Whereas, our Heavenly Father has called from our midst our beloved brother, Robert H. Tomlinson, who departed this life Sept. 21st, 1921, and while we, as a Church, are deeply grieved, yet we humbly submit to the will of Him, who doeth all things well.

Resolved:—That in the death of Bro. Tomlinson the Church has lost a valued officer and member, the Sunday School a faithful teacher, the children an affectionate father and the community a useful citizen.

Resolved:—That we send up our united petitions to the all wise Father, that He will cause his mantle to fall on another, who will take up the work and carry it on as faithfully as he did.

Resolved:—That we extend to his bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy.

Resolved:—That these resolutions be spread on the minutes of our Church, a copy be sent to the bereaved family, and a copy be sent to the Central Record for publication.

Wins At State Fair.

Miss Marie Cotton, who lives on the Richmond road is being warmly congratulated upon winning second prize at the State Fair in the two-year garment making project; also third prize for the best patch on garment. As last year was Miss Cotton's first year in sewing in the Lancaster Club, her winnings are even more appreciated by her friends.

Vanhuss—Winsted.

A September wedding of interest here was that of Miss Anna Belle Vanhuss, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Vanhuss, of this city and Mr. William Winsted, of Kirksville. The marriage came as a surprise to friends of the contracting parties, none of whom were aware that such intentions were being considered.

The bride wore a lovely suit of blue tulle with hat to match. The ceremony being performed by one of the local pastors of Jellico, Tenn.

Mrs. Winsted was one of Lancaster's most popular young ladies, having been one of the operators of the Lancaster Exchange.

The groom is a successful business man of Kirksville and is equally as popular as his helpmate.

After a few days in Tennessee they will return to their home in Kirksville where they will receive the good wishes of their many friends.

Marsee—Hendricks

One of the social surprises of the early fall season, was the marriage last Wednesday of Miss Lucy Joe Marsee, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Marsee, Sr., of this place and Mr. Dan Hendricks, of Kirksville.

So well did they keep their secret that few knew they were sweethearts and naturally were surprised when it was announced that they had eloped to Jellico, Tenn., where the ceremony was performed by one of the local pastors of that city.

Mrs. Hendricks is one of Lancaster's most charming young ladies, who is only equalled by her lovely character and sweet disposition.

The groom is a very successful business man of Dry Goods department store. He is equally popular and has a host of friends among the young men of this city.

After the ceremony they left for Knoxville and other points South for a few days before returning to their home in Kirksville at which time they will receive the best wishes of many friends for a long and useful life of matrimonial bliss mingled with happiness unalloyed.

Prehistoric Almanac.

In the British museum there is to be seen an almanac which is 1,200 years older than the Christian era; it dates back to the reign of the Egyptian king, Rameses the Great.

PLAN DRIVE FOR STATE SENATE

Democratic State Committees to Wage Campaign in Close Districts to Offset Republican Work.

HOUSE CONTROL CONCEDED.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 24.—An intense campaign with control of both houses of the next General Assembly for an objective is to be waged by Kentucky Democrats this fall as the result of plans formulated at an executive session of the Democratic State Central and Executive Committee, which met at the Seelbach Hotel tonight.

No time is to be wasted in offsetting the organization work being done by Republicans in close senatorial and Legislative districts, leaders said, and while more than a minimum control of the legislative assembly from the Republicans, party leaders here tonight seemed optimistic that plenty of material will be available, when the real work of organization gets under way and that the outcome will be all that any good Democrat might wish.

Judge Charles A. Hardin, of Harrodsburg, presided at the meeting tonight.

Republican leaders virtually concede the loss of the House to the Democrats, which is quite a comedown from the cocksureness that followed the "Howdy, Ed" majority of 40,000 in 1919. The Blair pardon scandal has completely unnerved the Republicans, who up until two or three weeks ago, were claiming they would control both houses of the legislature next winter.

In the fight to control the Senate there are three or four important contests. Republicans also assert that representation in the House from at least twelve counties is uncertain but decline to name the counties.

The Democrats as the result of plans believed to have been formulated tonight, will concentrate on Senate districts as follows: the Hopkins-Christian district; the thirty-sixth, which includes Jefferson county outside the city and the first ward of Louisville and the Boyle-Garrard-Lincoln-Casey district.

Campbell Club Mem- ber Defeats Adult Showmen.

Further proof of the fact that farm boys and girls who are members of junior agricultural clubs are capable of producing high quality products and defeating adults in open competition at fairs is obtained in a record made by a Campbell county youngster at the county fair. One of the corn club members in that county who took third in the club competition entered the adult classes and was awarded first prize in the larger class by the same judge who made the awards in the club classes.

Club exhibits occupied an important place at the fair, 73 members who are conducting projects under the direction of the College of Agriculture exhibiting 90 products, according to a report of County H. F. Link.

The fair was considered one of the most successful in the history of the county, both from the number and quality of exhibits. More than 70 purebred Holstein cattle were shown, this number being three times greater than that of last year, according to Mr. Link. One of the sires owned by the Campbell County Co-operative Purebred Sire Association took the grand championship award in competition with the best bulls of Campbell and neighboring counties.
There were nine entries in the purebred calf club show.

JACKSON COMMUN- ITY CLUBS

Make Many Improve- ments.

Community clubs in Jackson county co-operating with County Agent W. R. Reynolds have been able to make a number of important improvements in various parts of the county, according to a report by Mr.
Reynolds. The Union community club has given special attention to school grounds and buildings with the result that many of these have been overhauled and painted without any expense to the county or community. At Flat Lick, another community in the county, the school grounds have been beautified and the appearance of the school house interior greatly improved by the work of the community club, according to the report. The club also has recently built a piece of model road as well as made improvements on all roads in the district together with improvements on farm buildings including both dwellings and barns.

Similar improvements have been made by the clubs at Spurlock and Maulden.

Washington Farmers Make Record At Fair

Washington county farmers and junior agricultural club members are well pleased with the showing which they made at the State Fair and have already started plans for a number of record exhibits from that county next year, according to a report of County Agent R. M. Heath.
The poultry standardization exhibit from the county took third place and lacked only one point of tying for first place in the Barred Plymouth Rock classes. Poultry exhibits made by junior agricultural club members won first, second and third on pullets which they contained and first, second and third on cockrels as well as third on the best pen. Two baby bees from the junior agricultural club won first in their class while the Aberdeen Angus calf won first and second in two adult rings and the Shorthorn sixth in its class with twelve breeders competing.

TIMBER AT CENTRE TO BEAT HARVARD

Survey Of Squad Collected To Defend Title Of "Wonder Team."

Not only in Danville, but all over the State and nation, Centre College alumni and followers of the fortunes of the "Wonder Team" have been eagerly awaiting news of the new foot ball men who reported at Centre this year, and the word has gone out that Centre has the greatest lot of new men in the history of the college says a special to Lexington Leader.

"Rodes" Ingerton, the Amarilla, Texas boy who will play on right end for the Colts, has shown a lot of classy foot ball in the initial scrimmages. He came here with a reputation and is living up to it. His ability to smash end runs is expected to help Centre defeat Harvard.

Weldon Bailey Bradley, who hails from Fort Worth, has shown a lot of speed on the left end this week and will give all candidates for this position a run. He has all the earmarks of a great player.

"Tex" Rubarth, another of the Longhorns from Texas, is showing great stuff in the line. He has the old fight and nerve that seems to come with all of the Texas boys. He has made a good showing in scrimmage and it seems easy for him to break through the line and throw men for losses.

Don Bean hails from Pittsburg and brings with him much of the hustle of his native city. His ability to get down under the plays and smash them up will make him a big asset to the team.

Young Covington, the Mayfield, Ky. boy, has been termed the coming "Bo" McMillin. He has shown exceptional ability despite his size. His headwork is brilliant and he is a splendid open field runner and he has shown real class in every time on the field.

In Gordy, the Louisiana boy, Centre has another gem. He is playing full-back and showing up like a veteran. He made a reputation with the Peoples-Tucker Prep. school last year and is living up to expectations. His power to hit the line, reminds one of the smashes of "Red" Roberts in the memorable battle when Centre defeated West Virginia.

Bill Shadoan comes from Roberts' home town of Somerset. He was one of the boys who saw service overseas with the A. E. F. and was known as the best tackle in his division. He has shown well in practice and will make his power, experience and ability felt in every contest.

Altman Brooks, from the Peoples-Tucker school, showed much promise before happening to the first casualty of the season, and is now temporarily laid up with a sprained ankle. He is fast and heady and a good broken field runner.

"Buck" Jones, another Texas product, weight 216 pounds and is broad and strong and will make the man much trouble who plays opposite him at left guard.

Kubale, of Fort Smith, Ark., has shown class at center and is quick in grasping the signals and passing the ball. He aspires to fill the shoes of the great "Red" Weaver and there are many who have seen his work who predict that he is going to make the position.

Class, of Middletown, Ohio, has shown much class as an artist with his toe. He plays left half. His punts are long, high and every one is a spiral, which makes them very difficult to handle. He is considered a valuable asset to the team.

Kayse, the Lexington lad who came to Centre this year with a record as a high school player, is making a fine showing and much is expected of him. He was the all-State high school center for two years. He is fast and brilliant and diagnoses the plays with a readiness that is almost uncanny.

"Hope" Hudgins, who came here as the fastest man in Tennessee last year, has shown up well with the veterans of the "Wonder Team," but had the misfortune to break his nose in the early practice. He is expected to get back in the lineup at an early date.

Centre men and followers are happy over the fine work being done by the new line coach, Thornhill, all-American guard in 1916 on "Pop" Warner's Pittsburg Wonders. He is fast whipping the boys into shape and will be of incalculable help to the Centre eleven.
